

SCOPE AND CONTENT

This collection contains diplomas given by the college through the years. The diplomas represented span the life of the college, from the first diploma conferred in 1836 to as recent as a liberal arts degree awarded in 1960.

Two diplomas of note are George Washington Kidd's diploma of 1836, the first diploma given by the college and William St. George Kent's diploma of 1871, conferring on him a Civil Engineer degree, the first one awarded at Lafayette College. The majority of the diplomas in this collection are nineteenth century Bachelor of Science (BS) and Bachelor of Arts(AB) degrees, though there are six honorary degrees awarded in the twentieth century represented.

Many of the diplomas have been donated to the college by relatives and friends of the men who received them.
